

Stacey Sparks

Stacey Sparks discovered a love for dance after seeing how pretty a friend's hair and leotard looked while getting ready for dance class. A year and a move to Canada later, she started her ballet training at Patricia Sekeres Classical Academy of Ballet. After nine years of studying and performing with various teachers and studios (including Tracy Kennedy, Maryann Morrow, and Kathy Chamberlain) Stacey earned a B.A. in Dance Education at Texas Woman's University where she performed with several student led, innovative collectives (CholoRock, Big Rig Dance Collective, and RedDance) and earned Cum Laude honors. Upon completing her degree, earning her Texas Educator certification and several content certifications, she became a wife and dived right into motherhood. Stacey and her husband Robert have four children, a pool business and eleven cars together. Stacey danced with the all female modern dance company, Elledanceworks for three years. She has performed all around North Texas at venues such as Heard Craig Garden in McKinney, John Anthony Theater at Collin College and the Jonsson Performance Hall at UTD.

Stacey has taught around the metroplex in a variety of styles over the past ten years.

She is looking forward to her second season at EDC!
